A Great Conflagration That sweeps away a whole city, starts from a flame so small that a glass of water would extinguish it. In like number, the most painful and fatal muladles of the threat and lungs ordiparily develop from small beginnings, not difficult of gure if promptify treated with the proper remedy. But their progress is incldious and delay may be fatal. Colds and coughs lead to Laryngitis, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pacumonia, and Consumption. The only modi-cine cermin to cure every bronchiat and pulmonary affection not absolutely incurable is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral During 40 years it has stendily grown in populor estimation, and is now a household reliance in many thousands of families. Percuts, whose fives were preserved by AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL whensthey were young, are now say. ng the lives of their children with it. The China Ethail. ONGKONO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1885

THE announcement that an offensive and defensive alliance with England has been down the burning debris with bambook offered by the Turkish Government shows The origin of the fire has not been disthat the delicate and difficult questions with | covered. Russia referred to by Mr. Gladstone must have been threatening for some time! The following, extracted from a leading The alliance also implies that questions Italian paper, the Rossegna, apparently exoutside of Afghanistan must have been plains accurately Italy's reason for makpending, concerning which no news has ing the recent annexations in the Red yet been received. To the special diplomatic Sea:mission of Hassan Fehmi Pasha to London some reference has been made in the Home papers, but beyond seeking to draw closer that which it possesses for other countries. together the friendly relations of England France, England, and Germany have quesand Tarkey, little importance seems to tions of colonial policy before them as rehave been attached to it. It now appears, gards China, Australia, the Congo, and however, as the St. Jumes's Gazette points other countries; but for Italy the colonial out, that Hassan Fehmi Pasha came to Lon- movement is simply a question of equilidon with the definite object of renew- brium of existence in the Mediterranean, ing the alliance that existed between However unskilful, as some affirm, Italy

ville and the Turkish Envoy. The Gazette concludes its remarks on this subject by venturing an opinion that a renewed alliance with Turkey would not improbably hasten a further dismemberment of the Turkish Empire, and the final Russian advance upon India.' So far as the telegrams go, however, the offer of the Turkish alliance would appear to have followed the delicate and difficult questions with Russia, and the English demand that Russia shall withdraw her troops from Afghanistan. There can be no doubt whatever that, so far as India and the Soudan are concerned, an alliance with the principal Mohammedan power is a gain to England. The condition of Lower Egypt depends, at present at least, if not always, very much upon the state of Upper Egypt and the Soudan, so that the aid of the Porte will also prove advantageous in the Land of the Pharaohs, under careful management. What may yet be developed in Europe it is difficult to foretell. Italy has clearly allied herself to England, and will doubtless continue to be an active friend under any circumstances. Notwithstanding recent Bismarckian utterances, little real change has come over the relai tive positions of Germany and France; so that, if France sided with Russia, Germany would most likely be found on the other side. All this is assuming that the compliestion is European; and the fact that Parliament has sanctioned an increase of 15,000 men to the British Army leads to the supposition that the troubles would not be confined to India. So far as can be seen at present, any war that may come will not be of England's seeking. If it does come—though all good men will wish that it may not whoseever calls out the resources of England to the full will have cause to regret it. The people of England undertake a war only upon clear cause shown, and with right on their side; and as England possesses resources far surpassing those of any other European nation, or combination of nations, the result is certain. It may be a costly business, but the end must be the continued ascendancy of the British Empire.

Jos. Kelly, Band Master. A FIRE broke out at about 11.30 last night in some matcheds on Mr. Smith's (of Messrs Blackhead & Co.) property at Taim Tsa Tsui point, British Kowloon. The sheds were for the most part occupied by pigs and poultry, and about a score of the unfortunate porkers and a number of turkeys, geese and fowls were rossted in the flames. The matcheds blazed up well for a few minutes, but the fire burnt itself out after about a quarter of an hour, when the members of the Water Police extinguished the embers, by means of buckets of water and beating Council, published in another column, are noted the explanation made and expression of regret given by the French Consul, onbehalf of the officers of the French corvette Duguay Trouin, for the unseemly disturbance by board a coal-barge lying alongside that vessel. It is satisfactory to observe that instructions have been given to the French naval officers to be more careful in the future, in view of the existing circumstances. We think that the Hon. Wong Shing deserves credit, not only from Chinese residents, but from Hongkong residents of all nationalities, for having brought forward this question. The expression of regret is a satisfactory conclusion of the matter-only it would have looked even better had it come voluntarily from the representative of France.

THE prohibition to the Triomphante to refit at Hongkong-for it is a clear violation of the Foreign Enlistment Act to allow tho war ships of a belligerent to refit in neutral not increase the love with which we are regarded at Paris. The war service. Now that they have to transfer their base of operations to Saigon, it will cost them much more, even if the closing of Hongkong does not render the effective prosecution of the war practically impossible .- Pall Mall Budget.

GENERAL Soboles, in his recent bombastic manifesto of Russia's aims upon India, expressed himself rather deverly in the matter of the comparative value to conquerors of Central Asia, Afghanistan, and India. the meantime, he said, 'we will go on making our clay-pots in Central Asia. After clay will come the period of bronze, and with God's help we shall eventually reach Tun object of the Italian expedition is now the age of gold. Central Asian clay, Afghan bronze. Indian gold : such are the stages: But one age has been omitted: the age of cold steel, which will begin coincident with that of bronze, unless England is propared to let Afghanistan be hammered upon the Russian anvil into a new shape. It would seem as if the age of cold steel wors about to commence.

Woolwich Arsenal is at present threatened with a danger in no way traceable to dynamite agencies. For some time past, many tons of slag, ashes, and other refuse from the Arsonal works have been shot down daily on the south foreshore of the Thames, with the view of creating in time a large embankment for the arsenal. Sufficient in Tonkin was costing them £4,000,000 a caution can hardly have been exercised; for it now seems that at least an acre of this embankment is smouldering away, like a lime-kiln or a rubble-heap, in a steady process of slow combustion. All attempts to extinguish the igneous mass by pumping continuous tons of water upon it have proved ineffectual, and the latent fire is gradually approaching the Woolwich Powder Magazine. It, is however, still half a mile distant, and, as the engineers are busily digging a deep trench through this novel embankment, it is just possible that with sufficient energy and determination on the part of the War Office and the Board of Ordnance, Woolwich and Greenwich may escape the fate with which at present they are threatened.

The Italians will not have done so badly for themselves by taking a hand in the African game. They will have come into possession of almost the finest harbour on the Red Sea, with free licence to occupy as much of the adjacent district (under Prince Bismarck's new rules, of course) as seems good to thom. Meanwhile the Turks are getting ready to take over the Soudan from us. How the Turks, the Italians, the Egyptian garrisons, and Osman Digma (who is said to have more fight in him then ever, and to be arming his women) will get on together, may be a subject of some apprehension. But, after all, that is not our concern. There will be which we may be able to 'retire' with all convenient precipitation.

With resources at their command they would have no difficulty in securing the services of several distinguished scientists who had made chemicals the study of years, and who knew how to perfect nitro-glycerine in such a way as to render it a far more terrible engine of destruction than it was at present. Other substances of more recent discovery would be also employed, and with the knowledge already possessed by trained men in the dynamite ranks, there would be no difficulty on the part of the scientists referred to in teaching their pupils other and more profound lessons on the Hongkong 30.3255.973 subject. As to the probability of the collapse of the party owing to the hostile attitude of the Washington Legislature, and to the operations of the law likely to be passed restricting the sale and possession of explosives in America, the agent said he was not at all sure that such a measure would ever find a place in the Statute Books of the States. Indignation might be intense against the dynamiters just now in certain quarters; but it would cool down in a week or two, and American Senators and Congressmen after calmly considering the affair, would probably come to the conclution that they would be making imbeciles of themselves in catering to British national vanity by voting such an enactment If, however, the worst came to pass, the American code against dynamite would be as powerless to crush the dynamiters as the British code was. This Standard Work on the Chinese Language, constructed on the basis of Kanghi's Imperial Dictionary, contains all Chinese characters in practical use, and while alphapetically arranged according to the sounds of the oldest dialect of Ohina, the Cantonese, it gives also the Mandarin pronunciation of all characters explained in the book, so that its usefulness is by no means confined to the Cantonese Dislect, but the work is a practically complete Thesaurus of the whole Written Language of China, ancient and modern, as used all over the Empire, whilst its introductory chapters serve the nurposes of a philological guide to the student.

A Supplement, arranged for being bound and used by itself, and containing a List of the Radicals, an Index, and a List of Surnames, will be published and sold LANE, CRAWFORD & Co.

THE CHINA REVIEW.

PUBLISHED BI-MONTHLY, TENTH YEAR.

THIS Review, which was intended to meet 1 the wants of many students of Chinese caused by the discontinuance of ' Notes and Queries on China and Japan, has reached its Thirteenth Volume. The Review discusses SOUTH AMERICA, AND EUROPE, those topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the 'Far East' and about which every intelligent person connected with China or Japan is desirous of acquiring trustworthy information. It includes many interesting Notes and original Papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, bolklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Natural History, Antiquities, and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc., China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recently a new doporture has been taken, and the Kericio now gives papers on Trade, Commerce, and Descriptive notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the reuse of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be mademore generally

The Review department receives special attention, and endeavours are made to present a careful and concise record of Literature on China etc., and to give critiques embodying sketches of the Most recent works on such topics. Authors and Publishers are requested to forward works to 'Editor, China Review, care of China Mail Office.

The Notes and Queries are still continued and form an important means of obtaining from and diffusing among students knowedge on obscure points. The Correspondents' column also affords farther and greater facilities for the interchange of views and discussion of various

Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, or any of the Modern Languages are received. The papers are contributed by the members of the various Consular, the Imperial Customs, and Hongkong Services. and also by the Missionary bodies amongst whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is assiduously cultivated. Amongst this regular contributors are Drs. Chalmers, Eitel, Bretschneider, Hirth, and Hance, Professor Logge, and Messrs Balfour, Watters, Stent, Phillips, MacIntyre, Groot, Jamieson, Faber, Kopsch, Parker, Playfair, Giles, and Piton, -all woll-known names, indicative of sound scholarship and thorough > and Java" might appropriately have been placed under a separate heading, complete the number.'—H.K. Daily Press. Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review: The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, some what similar to that which, has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable ; and contributions of much interest may failly be looked or from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated and who are severally represented in the first number of the Vieview-by papers highly creditable to their respective authors . . Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and fresh ness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh contury, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowrs is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books, relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that 'Notes' and 'Queries' are destined to ANNA SIEBEN, German barque, Capt. H. find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions or. Chineso subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prede cessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to Insure its continuance.
